Worksheet 1: Don't Forget the "S"!

Mastering Plural Nouns & Third-Person Singular Verbs in English

The Italian Trap: In Italian, you change the vowel at the end of a noun to make it plural (amico → amici). You would never say "Ho tanti amico"! In English, that final -s is just as important. Without it, your sentence sounds broken—both for plural nouns and for he / she / it verbs in the present simple.

1. Quick Reference: Where the "S" Goes

Rule	Common Mistake	Correct English
Plural Nouns (2 or more)	~~I have two brother.~~	I have two brothers.
He / She / It Verbs (Present Simple)	~~She work in Milan.~~	She works in Milan.
Verbs ending in -ch, -sh, -s, -x, -o (+ -es)	~~He watch TV every night.~~	He watches TV every night.
Irregular Plurals (No -s!)	~~There are five peoples.~~	There are five people. (also: children, men, women)

2. Exercise A: Spot & Fix the Mistake

Each sentence below is missing an -s (or -es). Rewrite the corrected word on the line.

1. My sister live in Rome with her two cat. → _____
2. Marco always drink three espresso every morning. → _____
3. She have three meeting today. → _____
4. The train leave at 8:30 every day. → _____

3. Exercise B: Fill in the Blanks

Complete the sentences using the correct form of the word in parentheses.

1. Luca _____ (work) in a bank and _____ (speak) three _____ (language).
2. We need to buy five _____ (ticket) for the _____ (student).
3. My mother _____ (watch) the news while she _____ (cook) dinner.
4. There are many _____ (restaurant) in this city, and every place _____ (serve) great food.

4. Exercise C: Translate from Italian

1. Ho molti amici a Torino. → _____
2. Lei studia inglese ogni giorno. → _____
3. Lui ha due cani e tre gatti. → _____

Answer Key

Ex A: 1. lives, cats | 2. drinks, espressos | 3. has, meetings | 4. leaves

Ex B: 1. works, speaks, languages | 2. tickets, students | 3. watches, cooks | 4. restaurants, serves

Ex C: 1. I have many friends in Turin. | 2. She studies English every day. | 3. He has two dogs and three cats.